1.1.151
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham, December 12, 2003
www.unc.bz

1. I love you Ted. I love you My body of believers who believe in Me and believe I'm in these words, and that I am conveying Myself—the essence of My communication desires this day—and have been, and will, to you, through My penman, My scribe, My teacher, My prophet, who I love, and you who think I'm not in them and believe not—and you who believe not even in Me and My presence and My existence and the new things I am doing—I love you, I love you, I love you.

2. I love you period. I love you regardless. I love you perfect and imperfect, short and tall, big and little, religious and non-religious, sacrosanct and sacrilegious. I love you all and call all of you to My side, My lap, My hands, My breast, My provision, My all that I have for you.

3. Test Me and see if I won't flow to you, you who are serious and not just "tire-kickers." You—if you want Me—I am here. Test Me and see, see Me and feel Me and touch Me and I will touch you. I love you. I died for you. I arose for you and I live and intercede for you, and point to wonderful people and thoughts that I have brought in your life, when you didn't even know it was Me.

I love you. I love you.

4. Write your book Ted and enjoy it immensely and eternally.
I love you as you flow My words to My people and all interested in truth unmixed, untainted, clear, plain, and from My lips, My side, My heart.

5. I love you, love My people more.
Love Me more, love My people more.
So many so cold, so hurt, so isolated—begging—begging for help in so many places, many wrong.

6. I love you, love Me more.
Love My people more and let Me flow arrogance-free to My lambs, My forsaken, My all. Allow them to come to Me—the broken, broken, broke—and beauty for ashes give them, nourish them, strengthen, and let no one impose their will on you—just Me. I am thine and thou art Mine and they are Mine. Share and share alike. Give and love and uphold, as they are your children.

7. Do you love your children Ted? You love them oh so much, so deeply, giving so much. I love My children, My all, of every age and color and variety. Love them more, alive them, nourish them, and doubt not your progress in Me.

8. Wallow not for a moment in ponderance of hurt and lack. I've directed and promoted and regressive you cannot be.

9. Arise, strengthened—go forth—write—enjoy.
Attack only the enemy and only when I say.
Rise, arise, flow, be Me.
Pen and ink, digital media, ink on paper, revelation flow.
Write, write, write, and enjoy My flow of My life into your life and seed, and healing bodies and relationships and loves thought lost.

10. I love you—love more—write more.
Discourage not and know you cannot give discouragement entry.
Arise arisen, strengthened, fortitude-ed, tenacity-ed, and Ted, war in your joy, war in your joy. I am Me, I am in this and we are one.

11. Arise, go forth—write My book I have written, and enjoy the fruit of My labor, your labor, My gift. Happy day.

I thank you.

12. Healing, healing—review My words with healing.
Healing comes—beware not, be weary not.
Arise strengthened. I heal you.

I love you.

Dad